THE HOLY GRAIL

"Grail" is a word meaning cup or platter. Originally, it was supposed to be a miraculous chalice made of a single precious stone with many magic properties including that of prolonging life. Stories have been written around it and as it came down to us through the ages the story was changed and added to until the Holy Grail has come to mean the cup used by Jesus at the Last Supper. Search for the Grail was the chief object of the mythical knights of the Round Table, but of course they never found it. Wagner, the German composer, made use of this legend in both his operas, Parsifal and Lohengrin. Reels are in existence today, including the Chalice of Antioch recently exhibited in Chicago, thought to be the original Grail but none of them can be proved authentic.

THE SHORT WAVE

Delighted With Martin's
Talk and Eagerly Await
His Second Appearance

The short wave boys who belong to the Knox County Amateur Wireless Association are discussing little else than their highly successful meeting of Thursday night, when they had as guest speaker D. Martin of Martin's Radio Laboratory in Newcastle. With him came H. M. (Hotwire) Castner, the vigilant town cop, who was playing with wireless telegraphy when most of the members of the Knox County club were learning their A B's. It was the first time in 14 years that he had attended an amateur wireless meeting, and it goes without saying that he got a great hand.

In the course of the evening coffee, doughnuts and special radio club cake were served.

Mr. Martin's address, which was to be the first of a series, was entitled "Short Wave Radio Fundamentals." He described the basic principles of Ohm's law and criticized the average amateur for not availing himself to a greater extent of the principles which it embodies, and which would greatly aid him. Another feature of his talk was an explanation of the basic principles of radio tube circuits.

There was an attendance of 18, and each member feels deeply grateful to Mr. Martin for his valuable and illuminating talk. Only a radio amateur can appreciate the importance of having an opportunity to listen to a radio engineer who has the ability possessed by Mr. Martin. Everybody is looking forward to the second talk in this series, the date of which will be announced in The Courier-Gazette. Anybody interested in amateur radio will be welcome at this meeting.

LIGHTING THE HOME

Here Comes Miss Collins To Tell How To Do It Effectively and Economically

The Central Maine Power Company has recently added to its staff a home-lighting specialist, and with headquarters in Rockland she has come first to the Eastern Division to see that the company's patrons get the most efficient and economical results from the money they turn into the Central Maine till.

Assigned to this important task is Miss Eulalia Collins, an attractive Bangor young woman who graduated from the University of Maine last June, and who since that time, has been employed by the corporation as "home service girl."

Her duties as home-lighting specialist will be in connection with the new field opened by the Central Maine Power Company, and will find her on the local territory from one to three months. It will be her duty to assist the home-maker in deriving the best possible results from the electric power for which she is paying. How to save money in the use of fixtures and bulbs will be explained, and it may be stated right here that the service is entirely free to everybody. It has no strings attached to it.

Miss Collins stresses the conservation of eyesight, pointing out what everybody should know that the ratio of eye trouble increases with age. She also stresses the necessity of more light for sewing than for reading.

The above is merely a hint as to what the home-makers will learn from Miss Collins, and they should lose no time in availing themselves of this fine opportunity which is being offered free.

WILL BE A REAL SHOW

Camden-Rockport Lions To Present Splendid Entertainment
Tuesday Night

The Camden-Rockport Lions Club has for several years given generously to local relief work and this year the need is even greater.

The big dance and entertainment which, by the way, will be the nature of a floor show, is the way the club has taken to raise some of the money needed to carry on this splendid work. The entertainment will bring a group of favorite stars from Camden and nearby towns.

They are going to use the balcony of the Opera House entirely for spectators, and are only going to charge 25 cents for those seats, so it is expected that the balcony will be filled to its capacity on next Tuesday night. Sandwiches and coffee will be on sale during the evening prepared by that wonderful coffee maker, Finlay Calder.

Lester Merrithew of Morrill, "The Will Rogers of the East," will introduce all of the entertainers and he will appear in an act of his own. Don't miss hearing him if you want a real honest to goodness laugh.

Going back again into successful shows of the past, one remembers the two little sweethearts who pulled the heartstrings of the large audiences of the American Legion Show with their dancing. The little but extremely clever tots, Marylyn Davis of Lincolnville Beach and Beverly Bowden of Rockland, both are pupils of Miss Doris Heald, and they will do a group of clever dances under the direction of Miss Heald.

A newcomer charming, attractive and popular Miss Roberta Smith of Belfast will appear in a novelty song and dance act, accompanied by her talented mother Mrs. Ellen Smith.

Dick Martz and Howard Anderson are going to make an even bigger hit this time with an entirely new act.

Believing that the general public desires to keep in touch with the advances and accomplishments of our younger musicians, it has been arranged to have such a program for this dance. Leroy Moon of Rockport and Norman-Marriner of Camden, who were selected from hundreds of boys in New England to broadcast from WHDH in Boston last Saturday, will play. Leroy will play the same solo he rendered over that station and Norman and he will play the duet. Vere Crockett, son of Lion Roland F. Crockett, another talented young man, will play a trombone solo.

The last act of the floor show will bring to Camden a real find, Tony Accordi of Rockland, a crooner of popular songs and can he croon. This boy was discovered in the show "Heads Up" recently staged in Thomaston where he made a big hit. Since then he has been in constant demand by a great many organizations for private entertainment, including the local. No foolin', he will thrill and entertain you.

Music will be furnished by Clarence Fish and his six Lions Club Rollickers. The price of admission has purposely been kept down to an extremely low figure for such a big attraction. The entertainment starts promptly at 8:45 and the entire show will be put on before intermission between dances.

STORY OF THE KETTLES

The Salvation Army Christmas kettles made their appearance this morning and will silently seek the public's favor until the end of the Christmas season. The very little they desire from you is what few cannot afford to give, and please remember what it all means—Christmas dinners for those who will otherwise go without; and winter relief should there be a surplus. The Salvation Army will have no solicitors making a house to house canvass; your aid will be given voluntarily to the kettles presided over in cold and storm, by shivering sentinels. Ensign Hand says that many needy families were provided with Christmas dinners last year, and that present indications point to a need of a great many more.

UNDER NEW OWNERSHIP

The Georges River Woolen Mills in Warren, which have been operated by Massachusetts parties, passed into the ownership of the lessees this week and are now controlled by a corporation of that name. James McDougall and Lionel Jelous, whose present residence is Warren, are president and treasurer, respectively, and they, together with Bernard Goldfine of Boston, and Francis S. Russell of Natick constitute the board of directors. George W. Walker of Warren is vice president. Alice K. McDougall is clerk. The mill is now operating day and night, with 120 operatives on the payroll.

TO REPEAL ICE LAWS

Unpopular Fishing Act Of Last Legislature Having Its Sequel At Special Session

An act repealing the ice fishing laws of 1931 has been presented at the special session of Legislature and hearing has been ordered for next Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. In this connection the following resolve was presented:

"Emergency Preamble. Whereas, the inhabitants of the State of Maine are seriously affected by the financial depression and are in destitute circumstances, and

"Whereas, if the inhabitants of the State of Maine could fish in the inland waters they could obtain food and thus relieve the danger of starvation, and

"Whereas, in the judgment of the Legislature these facts create an emergency within the meaning of Sec. 16 of Article 31 of the constitution of Maine and require the following legislation as immediately necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health, and safety, now therefore, be it:

"Resolved: That the Commissioner of Inland Fisheries and Game is hereby directed to issue a rule and regulation opening to fishing for pickerel, hornpout, yellow perch, eels, chubs and eels, at all times, such ponds as are not being stocked with game fish and do not contain trout, togue or salmon.

"Be it further resolved that the Commissioner of Inland Fisheries and Game is hereby authorized, with the advice and consent of the Advisory Council to issue rules and regulations, opening or closing, any waters to fishing for any kind of fish during such time and under such conditions as may be deemed in the best interest of the stocking plan of the department of Inland Fisheries and Game. This resolve shall not be construed to repeal any of the provisions of Section 4, chapter 33 of the Revised Statutes as amended, but shall be in addition thereto.

"Emergency Clause. In view of the emergency stated in the preamble, this resolve shall take effect when approved."

A pamphlet is in circulation among the members containing a list of ponds which the Department of Inland Fisheries and Game desires to open immediately to fishing. The Knox County list contains Crystal Lake, Washington; Fish and Mansfield Ponds, Hope; Grassy and Maces ponds, Rockport; and North and South ponds, Warren.

The Lincoln County list includes Burns Pond, North Waldoboro; Duckpuddle and Kaler's ponds, Waldoboro; and Longfellow pond, Whitefield.

The shippers that Joseph Leopold will get additional work at Vinalhaven, the St. George Granite Company will get a slice at Wildcat, and the Booth Bros & Hurricane Isle Granite Company will have an opportunity to ship some of its blocks already cut at Long Cove.

"There's a nice little Christmas tang to that news."

THE NEXT SMOKER

Leather Pushers and Mat
Maulers To Be At Legion
Hall Tuesday Night

Because the Kickapoo will be at sea next Tuesday it was necessary for Matchmaker Hamlin to find a new wrestling opponent for Alston MacFarland of Union, and it will certainly please the fans to know that the man selected is Ken Wiggins. Ken is an all-around athlete and can stand more grief than a professional mourner. There'll be no fake about that match.

And what shall be said about that main boxing bout between Ted Libby of Thomaston and Tete Whittier of Rockport? Over Montpelier way they say this 168-pound Libby boy is the real goods, and everybody knows about Tete—what a glutton he is for giving and taking punishment. This bout will be no necking party.

The Pine Tree Express is on its way to Rockland, bearing Walter Reynolds, one of the smartest 127 pound packages ever found on a Christmas tree. Opposed to him next Tuesday night will be the Belfast puncher Rookie Wright, and what a right he has.

The other boxing bouts are: Flash Miller of Thomaston vs. Young Cooran of the same town; John Boardman and Young Freeman of Rockland; Edward Childs and Percy Porter of Rockland—this last bout being for the hundred pound championship of Knox County.

Bill Vinal and His Hill Billie Vagabonds will open the show and have everybody on his toes.

EVERYBODY WORKED HARD

And Annual Methodist Fair Was a Success Every Way—
Christmas Decorations

Success crowned the efforts of the Methodist women in their annual fair on Wednesday despite the unkind mood of the weather man. Those who braved the elements felt repaid in the splendid array of articles on sale, in the bountiful supper and in the excellent entertainment given as the final feature.

The Christmas spirit was reflected in the decorations—red and green streamers of crepe paper hung artistically on the walls from a moulding a few inches from the ceiling and caught in fan shape at intervals. Graceful festoons filled in the spaces between the fans. Evergreen trees filled the corners simply decked in tinsel, and on each table was a miniature Christmas tree with tinsel decorations. The white cloths of the supper tables were banded with red ribbon. The effect was lovely, though restricted to simplicity. The grabs were shown in an unique way this year—wrapped gaily and hung on a large Christmas tree in one corner. The waitresses carried on the Christmas idea by wearing green crepe paper aprons banded with red.

This program was presented in the evening under the direction of Mrs. Kathleen Marston, with Marshall Bradford as master of ceremonies: Quartet—The Show—Edward Elgar I Hear a Thrush At Eve—Cadman The Miller's Wooing—Eaton Fanning Mrs. Helen Wentworth, Mrs. Marston, Almon Richardson, Mr. Bradford Readings—The Duel—Eugene Riley The Peach—Eugene Riley Joan Berman

Mrs. Berry accompanied. Little Joan again charmed her hearers and responded with another of Field's popular poems—"Little Boy Blue." Mrs. Frost's rich voice was at its best, and her encore was "The Little Hills are Calling" by Morris. Miss Dean appeared to advantage, as did Mr. Greene and Mrs. Bullard in their duets, their voices blending admirably. The organ and piano number was greatly enjoyed, Mrs. Berry and Mrs. Averill playing with a sympathetic bond that always sets them aside as particularly enjoyable. Mrs. Ellingwood's numbers were given charmingly, in an informal manner, prefacing each short poem with a brief bit about the author. Mrs. Ellingwood stressed particularly Harold Vinal's poem, stating that Mr. Vinal who was born at Vinalhaven enjoys an enviable reputation both as a poet and critic in this country and abroad, and enjoyed.

MR. COBB'S RESIGNATION

Former Governor William T. Cobb has tendered his resignation as a public library trustee, asking for immediate acceptance. His letter to Mayor Richardson and members of the Board of Aldermen, received this morning follows:

"After a continuous service of more than 30 years as a member of the board of trustees of the Rockland Public Library I wish to be relieved of the responsibilities attached to that position. I therefore tender by resignation as a trustee, herewith, and respectfully ask that the same be given acceptance immediately. I am grateful to the city officials who have honored me with so many successive elections, also grateful to all of my associates on the board for their unfailing co-operation in the work of making the Public Library a real factor in the educational and cultural life of our city."

SMART UNION GIRL

Annie Mae Rhodes of Union, a graduate of U.H.S. '33, now a student at Eastern State Normal School, Castine, Maine, was one of the four students on the junior honor roll for the first half of the fall semester. She was honored by receiving the highest rank in her class, and also by receiving A's in six of her eight subjects. She was the only one in the Science class to receive an A. (A—94-100).

THE MISSING MALLARDS

Tenant's Harbor sportsmen who won lots of Mallard ducks at Charles Stone's game shoot at Port Clyde were dismayed to find that all of them had disappeared over night. They had flown back to their erstwhile owner's pen—90 percent of them, at least. There's many a slip twixt the duck and the lip.

YOUR FAVORITE POEM

AT THE CHURCH GATE

Although I enter not,
Yet round about the spot
Ofttimes I hover;
And near the sacred gate,
With longing eyes I wait,
Expectant of her.

The minister bell tolls out
And lo! and humming;
They've hushed the minister bell;
The organ 'gins to swell;
She's coming, coming!

My lady comes at last,
Timid and stepping fast,
And hastening hither,
With modest eyes downcast,
She comes—she's here, she's past!
May Heaven go with her!

Kneel undisturbed, fair saint!
Pour out your praise or plaint
Meekly and duly;
I will not enter there,
To sully your pure prayer
With thoughts untruly.

But suffer me to pace
Round the forbidden place,
Lingering a minute,
Like outcast spirits, who wait,
And see, through heaven's gate,
Angels within it.
—William Makepeace Thackeray.

WORKS OF MENDELSSOHN

Program of Yesterday's Meeting Of Rubinstein Club — Two Valuable Members Lost

The Rubinstein Club had 35 members present yesterday. The holiday spirit was reflected in the simple decorations of evergreen branches and red berries in a birch bark holder.

A silent tribute was paid to the memories of Mrs. Clara Spear of this city, and Mrs. Mary Luce of Thomaston, who died this week. Both were long and valued members of the club. Mrs. Spear having been one of the organizers. Mrs. Faith G. Berry announced the gift of music and a music cabinet from Mrs. Spear's effects, the cabinet having belonged at one time to Mrs. Furbish, a past president.

The program was in charge of Mrs. Maryon Benner, with Felix Bartholdy Mendelssohn as her subject. Her paper was very well written and presented in an interesting manner. The numbers, all from the works of Mendelssohn, all splendidly given, were:

Vocal duet—On Wings of Song
Mrs. Katherine Venable, Mrs. Gladys Morgan
Piano—Consolation
Miss Irene Young
Mezzo-soprano—O Rest in the Lord, from "The Elijah"
Mrs. Loreta Bicknell
Piano duo—Nocturne from "Midsummer's Night's Dream"
Miss Caroline Littlefield, Mrs. Berry
Violin and piano—Andante from Violin Concerto
Miss Esther Morse, violin; Miss Adella Morse, piano
Soprano—Spring Song
Mrs. Danie Gardner
Piano—Spinning Song
Miss Edna Gregory
Vocal duet—Maybells and Flowers
Mrs. Ruth Lawrence, Mrs. Doris Scariot
Accompanists were Mrs. Berry, Mrs. Lillian S. Copping and Mrs. Averill.

There will be a guest evening Dec. 22, in charge of Mrs. Ethel Thomas Sezak. Her subject will be "The Music of Spain." Each member may invite one guest, those on the program or committees to invite two guests. Mrs. Kathleen Marston in charge of decorations will be assisted by Mrs. Edna French and Miss Clemmie Blackington.

The W.C.T.U. met yesterday with Mrs. Aiden Uimer. The program, with the subject of "Americanization" was led by Miss Florence Hastings. Articles read were "A Russian Woman's Experience," by Mrs. Emily Sherman; "Christian Americanization Work on New York's East Side," Mrs. Ada Ripley; "America's Gates Ajar," Mrs. Kate Brawn. A musical number, "O Columbia," was given by Mrs. Clara Emery, who also read an article from the Christian Herald entitled "Allied Youth and the Temperance Movement." Miss Hastings read a letter from Mrs. May Lawrence, State director of Americanization work. Refreshments were served by the hostess.

Horace R. Booth formerly of Rockland, a sophomore at Brown University, has been awarded a Henry Wheaton scholarship for the current academic year. Booth is a graduate of the Rockland High School. Henry Wheaton Scholarships, awarded to students of high academic distinction, are named by Brown University in honor of Henry Wheaton of the Class of 1892, United States minister to Prussia from 1837 to 1846, and in his day the leading American authority on international law.

A membership meeting of the Knox County Fish and Game Association will be held at Martinsville Grange hall next Tuesday night, and according to "Doc" Conley the entertainment is going to be good. Ted Johnson will "Cut Down the Old Pine Tree," the quartet will present song hits from Broadway, "Shorty" Reed will be hypnotized by Mlle. Jeanne d'Arc. "Ah! this ain't all, either," the notice says.

The planes of the Maine Air Transport, Inc., are being overhauled at Port Washington, L. I., in anticipation of spring operations. One will be available for charter work around April 1, and the regular run will start sometime in May, depending upon business conditions and traffic here in Penobscot Bay. Contrary to what the owners believe to be malicious rumors the company is in good financial condition.

The Belfast Journal devotes half a column of its valuable space in the current issue to asking why Rockland High is refusing to play Crosby High at basketball this season. "Rockland Scared" is the heading of the screed, which the Belfast sports editor hastens to say was not written by any member of Crosby High School or the faculty.

It is reported on good authority that another dividend on Security Trust Company holdings is to be made between now and Christmas. That's a pleasant shock which lots of folks would be able to survive.

JASON O. PACKARD

Death of Venerable Rockville Man Who Had Very Busy Career At Sea and Ashore

Jason O. Packard one of the oldest and best known residents of Rockville died Tuesday morning. His demise marked the severing of a happy domestic partnership which had existed more than 66 years. Funeral services were held at the residence Thursday afternoon, many old neighbors and members of the organizations to which he belonged being in attendance. Mrs. Cross sang "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere" and "Sometime We'll Understand." The bearers were Charles Leach, Fred Lerch, Charles E. Gregory and H. N. Brazier. Burial was in the Rockville cemetery. Essentially a farmer for many years, Mr. Packard was nevertheless family with the tang of the sea, for in his younger days he made many voyages to ports on the Atlantic coast and in the West Indies. He also had a knack at carpentering and as foreman for a local firm of building contractors superintended the construction of some of Knox County's finest residences.

Jason O. Packard, whose death brought sorrow to many Knox County homes

He left this vacation about 35 years ago and until his retirement from active work a few years ago bent his energies to the cultivation of the 80-acre farm which is one of Knox County's beauty spots. Since his retirement the farm has been ably managed by his son Karl.

Mr. Packard was a Mason and member of Penobscot View Grange, being on the building committee of the latter organization when the new hall was erected. He was a member of the Free Baptist Church.

Mrs. Packard prior to marriage was Arthusa Studley, and was also a native of Rockport. The house in which they have so long resided was built, in 1831, by Mr. Packard's grandfather, whose vision of the future surely contained no inkling that one day it would be lighted by electricity and contain the comforts which the present period finds there.

Mr. Packard on the threshold of the 90s was still young in spirit, enjoyed company and was a delightful entertainer. A few years ago he spent some weeks in Atlantic City, and had since recalled it as one of the happiest experiences of his career. His long life was filled with kind deeds, and he went to his last resting place mourned by the hundreds who knew him intimately.

He is survived by his wife and three sons—Daniel A. of Montana, Claremont of Hull, Mass., and Karl, who resides on the homestead.

SPRUCE HEAD

Mrs. Mary Maker is very ill at the home of her daughter Mrs. L. C. Elwell.

Mrs. Clarence Carr has returned to Rockport after spending the weekend with Mrs. Charles Carr.

Stanley Simmons has returned home for the winter from Seal Island where he has been lobstering during the summer.

Howe Elwell has finished his season's fishing at the Wooden Ball and will occupy a part of the E. V. Shea house during the winter, formerly occupied by L. C. Elwell.

Mr. and Mrs. George Elwell have returned to their home in Vinalhaven after being holiday guests of Capt. Freeman Elwell.

Clifford Elwell has moved his family from Glen street Rockland on White Head.

Mrs. Cassie McLeod has gone to Boston for the winter, where she will be guest of her daughters.

Congratulations are extended to Mr. and Mrs. Harold Simmons of Hopkinton, Mass., who were married in Nashua, N. H. April 2nd. Mrs. Simmons was Miss Frances Dobson of Lynn, and niece of Mrs. Stanley Simmons. Mr. Simmons is a grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Merrill Simmons and son of Ray Simmons. Both are well known here as they have spent many summers visiting relatives. The marriage was kept secret until this week when the bride completed her training as nurse at the Melrose Hospital.

THE LEGION WANTS YOU TO AID

Next Sunday the American Legion will put on its annual picture show for the benefit of the needy. There will be two performances, at 2:00 p. m. and at 7:30 p. m. in Strand Theatre. The picture is "Night After Night," featuring Mae West.

Each year the local Post of the American Legion has tried to help the unfortunate at Christmas time. This has been done by giving a picture show. The admission charged is anything in the line of articles of food or fuel.

The Legion has found places for seven to twelve tons of these articles received from these pictures each year. This year the local Post could dispose of 25 tons. Be one to help raise this amount.

The Ladies' Guild held its annual Christmas sale Thursday afternoon in Library Hall.

The Grange has an initiation of several members Saturday night.

Monday morning seven men went to work on the school house grounds under the C.W.A.

Friends of Alice Nutt will be pleased to know her activities in the Elizabeth N. J. church. She sings in the choir, is a student in the teacher training class, active in the young people's society, and missionary work. The church is very cordial and home-like. She reports seeing Jeannette Crockett and the fine work she is doing in her hospital training.

Sunday morning the pastor Rev. H. F. Huss will preach upon the subject "The Price of Things," with mixed chorus choir of 16 voices. The Sunday school meets at 10. At 6:30 comes the young people's meeting. At 7:30 the pastor gives the third in the series of illustrated addresses, "The Old West." This is a picture that touches the home life in its heart-gripping sentiments. The orchestra of eight pieces with piano will play Sunday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hatch and children of Sanford have been guests of Mr. and Mrs. Fred W. Scott.

Miss Beryl Davis was at home from Kent's Hill for the holiday and weekend.

Miss Mona Jones, a student at Oak Grove Seminary, Vassalboro, passed the holiday with Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Miller.

STRAND THEATRE

The feature Monday is "After Tonight," with Constance Bennett and Gilbert Rowland.

The feature for Tuesday is "One Man's Journey," starring Lionel Barrymore. It tells the dramatic story of a country physician who achieves true greatness through what the world is wont to call failure. This country doctor role is rated one of the most sympathetic ever played by Barrymore. He is seen as a doctor who returns to practice in the rural community where he was born. Through the years he devotes his whole life to the service of others, a patient, plodding healer. Opportunities for study and the realization of his dearest ambitions arise, but he refuses them rather than forsake the humble folk who have come to depend upon him. The climax shows the obscure "failure" winning a spectacular battle with death after the greatest modern surgeons and physicians have failed, and receiving besides, the recognition which comes with outstanding achievement. Romantic interest figures importantly in the story, and the drama is said to be spiced with considerable droll humor. —adv.

ABOUT GIL PATTEN

Camden's Prolific Author Writes His Autobiography Which is in Printer's Hands

The New York Evening Post publishes a department devoted to "the present condition of past headlines in the news" and the issue of Dec. 2 was devoted to our Camden author, Gilbert Patten. It reads: "Gilbert Patten, the 'Burt L. Standish' who launched a thousand and more Frank Merriwell stories, we found at Lee Chumley's in the village. He comes down from his apartment at 183d street two or three times a week to see his best friend, Chumley, and eat there, to kibitz a few chess games, and maybe play one. Six feet tall and crowned with a splendid, wavy crest of white hair, he is a picture of right living, right thinking.

and all that sort of thing. His wholesome laugh would fit an Episcopal bishop; his 180 pounds of bone and sinew (we have read our Merriwell, too) suggest the trained athlete whose white hair is for purity, not age.

"Asked his age, for indeed it does seem many years since we were all following Frank Merriwell through Yale, Mr. Patten grew shy. 'All I will admit to' he said, 'is between 60 and 65. The trouble is, if editors think I'm older they'll get an idea I'm out of touch with the youth of today.' He snorted heartily. 'I have written an autobiography, though, in which I tell the truth about it, and to hell with editors!'

"This autobiography is already in the hands of publishers, but the bad times, plus the notorious timidity of publishers in all the worthiest cases, have caused them to postpone indefinitely the date of publication. Mr. Patten deprecates this and points to his reprint of an article by George Jean Nathan in the American Mercury of September, 1925, calling for a life of Burt Standish, if still alive, as proof of a demand which is often renewed within his hearing. In the meantime he is writing his first serious novel 'a semi-modern work with sentiment in it, but not sentimentalism.' He has written so much it's easy for him, and he's revealed so little of himself that he's loaded for bear."

WITH THE BOWLERS

Lions 4, Kents 1

The Lions crept back into the lime-light Wednesday night by defeating Kents Service 55 pins. The sensation of the evening was Al Jones' string of 144, serving to give him high total by a wide margin, and putting the named critters decidedly on the map. The summary:

Lions—Nutt 245, Larcomb 217, Black 246, Elliot 266, Jones 312, total 1283.

Kents—Ladd 207, Aylward 238, McKinney 256, Clark 268, Fitzgerald 259, total 1228.

Sim's Shop 4, Merchants 1

The Simmes took four of the five points from the Merchants Thursday night. Gray had high single, but Willis led him a single point for high total. The summary:

Sim's Shop—Sprowl 266, Sim 263, Fisher 248, Willis 288, Berliawski 263, total 1328.

Merchants—Rubinstein 218, R. Perry 257, Margeson 255, Marshall 283, Gray 287, total 1300.

The Camden-Rockport Lions defeated the Rockland Lions 1349 to 1284 at the Recreation alleys last night. Can they take it?

ROCKVILLE

Rev. George F. Currier, Baptist pastor in Rockport, is planning to hold services here in the Baptist Church beginning tomorrow. There will be but one service this Sunday at 2 o'clock with Sunday school. It is hoped that all the young people of the village will be present to organize classes and to make preparations for a Christmas concert. Beginning with Dec. 17 preaching service will be held at 2 o'clock, followed by Sunday school at 3 o'clock.

In the death of Jason O. Packard, which occurred Tuesday morning, at the age of 83 years, Rockville has lost one of its oldest residents. With the exception of a few years when he lived in Rockland, he spent his lifetime at the Packard homestead on the hill. Mr. and Mrs. Mont Packard of Hull, Mass., and H. B. Richmond of Atlantic City came to attend the funeral.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell, parents of Mrs. Oscar Carroll, have moved from West Rockport and are keeping house in the upper tenement of Oscar Carroll's house.

WEATHER
Check up on your radiators tonight because there are going to be freezing temperatures, according to the weather broadcast. Partly clearing skies after a winter rainstorm are quite apt to be followed by colder weather, which is responsible for the old adage that there is always something to take the joy out of life. But cheer up, customers, the days will soon be lengthening, and it's only 16 days to Christmas.

The regular session of Rockland Lodge, B.P.O.E. will be held next Tuesday night, with supper at 6.30.

Register of Deeds Albert Winslow was in Augusta Wednesday on business connected with his department.

Dr. Granville C. Shibles of Westbrook, formerly of Rockport has been appointed member of the board of osteopathic examination and registration.

The Sunshine Society will meet Monday afternoon with Mrs. Austin Smith, Grace street. This will be a social meeting, members to take their own work.

The new City Government will organize the first Monday in January. Mayor-elect Thurston's self appointed advisers are busy fixing up his slate of city officials.

George W. Wheeler of the Perry's Market staff has a five-dollar bill issued by the Shipbuilders' Bank of Rockland 90 years ago; also a 50-cent piece coined 101 years ago.

"On the Inside in Augusta" is the topic which will engage the attention of the Knickerbocker Conference at Glover's store Sunday, high noon. Representative L. A. Walker will report his observations and the usual open forum will follow. If you are a man you are invited.

Fred L. Linekin's paper on "The Safety Factor in Motoring" was the high light of yesterday's Rotary Club meeting, a practical discussion of a vital problem. Mr. Linekin was called out of the city at the last minute so the paper was read by Arthur L. Orne.

Mrs. Belle Frost of this city has been appointed matron at the State Prison—an official required by law when there are women prisoners. At present there is but one. Mrs. Frost is the wife of Eugene Frost, a past matron of Golden Rod Chapter, O.E.S. and is exceptionally qualified for her duties.

E. E. Roderick, deputy commissioner of education will be speaker at the monthly meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association Monday evening at 7.30 at the high school auditorium. He will have a message of vital importance. Entertainment features will be provided by pupils from the McLean school.

Ray Pierce, singing crayon artist, and company, will be presented at the Methodist Church Wednesday evening under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society. Mr. Pierce who has a most engaging personality puts on an unique entertainment. His trained dog plays a prominent part. A diverting evening is guaranteed.

The Knox County Community Center was able through the generosity of those who contributed to the boxes and others who gave produce, to give away 60 dinners. The total amount of money was $40. Mr. Larcombe thanks all who helped to make it possible for the needy to have a little extra at Thanksgiving. Community Center services for the weekend: Saturday night, 7.30; Sunday, 2.30 Bible class; and at 7.30 public meeting. Subject, "The Birth of Christianity."

An amazing offer on radio tubes is now being made by House-Sherman, Inc., 422 Main street, Rockland, which closes Dec. 16. The Junior Auxiliary of the American Legion meets Tuesday afternoon after school at Legion hall.

A. S. Peterson was in Augusta Thursday to attend a meeting of the executive committee of the Maine Association Against the Sales Tax.

The Knox County Ministerial Association meets Monday forenoon at the Universalist vestry, followed by noon dinner.

Mrs. Blanche Morton will be in charge of the supper at Legion hall tonight from 5 to 7, under the auspices of the American Legion Auxiliary.

Mrs. Susie Lamb will be hostess to Pales Circle, Ladies of the G.A.R., Wednesday at 1.30, remaining for supper. The evening will be given over to a public card party.

George Kennedy, who was recently arrested on a serious charge made by a young girl, has been sent to the State Hospital in Augusta for observation, following an examination by local physicians.

Edgar McBride will shortly open a barber shop on Main street two doors south of Park street. Mr. McBride was formerly employed at A's barber shop, and is better known to the whisker-raising public as "Mac."

These jurors have been drawn for the February term of Knox County Superior Court: Clarence E. Barnard, 4 Chestnut street, Winnifred S. Leighton, 89 Talbot avenue, Sumner S. Waldron 11 Ocean street, and Fred E. Leach, 27 Rockland street.

Those who follow the football fortunes of Bowdoin College were interested in yesterday's news despatches which stated that Coach Bowser will be replaced next year. Uneasy lies the head of the college coach who does not have a winning team.

HEARING ON LOBSTERS
Knox County men who are interested in the lobster industry are hereby reminded that the committee on Sea and Shore Fisheries will give a hearing at its rooms in the State House next Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock to consider an act relating to measurements of lobsters.

The monthly meeting of the BPW Club took place Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Exxy Perry. Plans were made to hold a public card party Tuesday evening at Mrs. Perry's home, with play to begin at 8.

Enthusiastic audiences greeted "Climbing Roses," the annual senior class play. The splendid work of the young players so ably coached by Miss Dorothy Parker, teacher of public speaking, merits a more detailed account which will appear in Tuesday's issue.

The most important meeting in the history of the Rockland Chamber of Commerce will be held Thursday night at Temple hall with supper at 6.30. It is open to all interested citizens and business and professional men and the session will decide if the Chamber is to continue, the matter of lowering dues etc. The supper cost is 65 cents and the committee will begin its canvass Monday. No person will be urged to buy but a general attendance is imperative if the Chamber is to be retained.

I Leslie Cross, commander of Anderson Camp, Sons of Union Veterans, and these members of the Camp and Auxiliary motored to Augusta Thursday night to attend the campfire and rally—Mrs. Cross, Col. E. K. Gould and son Charles, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Thomas, Mrs. Sarah Thomas, Rev. and Mrs. H. R. Winchester, Mrs. Gussie Chase, Mrs. Emma Douglass, Mrs. Millie Coombs, Mrs. Nellie Achorn; also Comrades Philbrick and Kelley. Nine attended from the Camden Camp and Auxiliary. The affair was given to stimulate interest and revive the long dormant H. G. Staples Camp of the Kennebec Valley. Supper opened the festivities, and the new officers of the Augusta camp were installed by Frank Small of Cooper's Mills. There were remarks by the department officers, the Grand Army comrades of which there were seven in the assemblage, and by other visitors. Then followed an informal social hour and dancing. Clarence H. Cram, well known in Rockland, presided as general chairman, and saw to it that hospitality in capital letters was shown the visitors. It was a most delightful occasion and the Rockland visitors felt well repaid for the trip made to attend.

All Legionnaires are asked to report at Strand Theatre Sunday, Dec. 10, at 1 o'clock. Wear Legion hats, if you have them. Your help is very necessary to put the food drive across. Monday night at Legion hall there will be a supper for the workers at 6 o'clock and a good supper is promised.

The postcards and calendars bearing a handsome view of the High School building now being sold by students are attracting considerable attention. Edwin R. Edwards Jr., designed the view in pen and ink. He apparently has inherited the fine talent of his grand-daddy, Henry A. Howard

This special communication is received from Knox Lodge, I.O.O.F. "For the convenience of those brothers who are planning to attend the ceremonies of the Initiatory degree Monday night it is requested that as far as possible all brothers be at the hall by 7.15. The seating capacity is limited to 300. All are invited, but come early."

My My How the weeks roll around. Here we are again telling you about the nice things Strand Theatre offers for next week. Monday, Constance Bennett in "After Tonight;" Tuesday, Lionel Barrymore in "One Man's Journey;" Wednesday and Thursday, Janet Gaynor and Warner Baxter in "Paddy the Next Best Thing;" Friday, Lillian Harvey and Lew Ayres in "My Weakness;" Saturday, Mary Brian and Bruce Cabot in "Shadows of Sing Sing."

The monthly meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association takes place Monday evening at 7.30 at the High School auditorium. It promises to be of more than ordinary interest, as E. E. Roderick, deputy commissioner of education for Maine, will be speaker. He always has a vital message. Pupils from the McLean School will present entertainment features. These meetings are always open to the public, and through the high quality of speakers and entertainment should draw a full house each time.

CARD OF THANKS
The committee of Rockport citizens sponsoring the benefit party held at Town hall, Wednesday evening wish to thank all who aided in making it a success, especially McCarty's Drug Store for score cards and McLean's Shoe Store for playing cards. Rockland; Rockport Baptist Church for chairs. Rockport Hardware Co. for transportation and Fish's Orchestra for music.

CARD OF THANKS
We wish to thank all kind friends who sent floral offerings and did so much to help in our recent bereavement. Mrs. J. O. Packard, Mr. and Mrs. Karl Packard, C. F. Packard.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT
Whereas, Our Heavenly Father, has deemed it wise to again break the golden chain of our Order and take home our beloved Sister Maria Robbins. Resolved, That in the death of Sister Robbins, Bethel Rebekah Lodge, has lost a true and faithful member.

Resolved, That we as members of this Fraternity, will ever cherish a loving remembrance of our sister. Resolved, That we extend our sympathy to the husband and family of the deceased and commend them to Him who never falleth to comfort those in affliction. Resolved, That as a tribute of respect, our charter be draped for thirty days, that a copy of these resolutions be spread on our records and one sent to the bereaved family; also one sent to The Courier-Gazette for publication.

From our chain a link is broken. In the east a star has set. But enshrined on memory's tablet. Her true worth we'll never forget. Ada Merriam, Bertha Howe, Linda Davis, Committee on Resolutions.

age of 6 with his sister, a New England Conservatory of Music graduate. Later studies were undertaken with F. Addison Porter, the founder of the Conservatory pianoforte teaching system. He also studied music at the Conservatory with Homer Humphrey and Mr. Dunham, and later enrolled in Dr. Davidson's famous music class at Harvard University. Mr. Dearden has had the benefit of excellent training combined with several years of experience at the consoles of large church and theatre organs in important cities of the East.

During the World War he served in the 1st Division for two years. While Overseas he played several instruments in the band. Mr. Dearden has accompanied Tibbetts, Jeritza, Farrar, Walter Smith, trumpeter, and many other musicians of renown. He gave two recitals in the great Fethall in Coblenz, Germany, and has played piano with Leo Reisman's fine orchestra at the Hotel Brunswick, Boston.

Mr. Dearden has been in ill health and is in Maine seeking to regain his strength and vigor. Rockland is to be congratulated on having such an accomplished musician residing in its vicinity.

Eighty-two adults were registered in the night school under federal aid Wednesday, 30 of these being in the navigation class conducted by Capt. L. A. Crockett who enjoys an enviable reputation in that line. The increase in registration, from 51 to 82, is most gratifying to Supt. Toner who has worked untiringly to gain this federal project for Rockland.

The splendid welfare work instituted by the Boys' and Girls' Service Club by Mrs. Jennie Allen Wilson continues. Through the generosity of M. B. Perry a ton of coal has been presented, by means of which it is possible to heat the club room established the past summer and which had to be discontinued when cold weather set in. This clubroom is more valuable at the present time than ever before, as many members of the club are Purchase street school pupils who are having an enforced vacation due to the federal repairs now underway. Here books, games and magazines are provided for the young folks, so that their leisure time may be used to advantage, and not without entertainment. Friends are once more reminded that gifts of books and magazines are always welcome and appreciated. If unable to make delivery in person, call Mrs. Wilson 1035-M and she will arrange to have them called for.

IN THE CHURCHES

SERMONETTE

Servants

Simple, dignified and beautiful are the salutations of the apostles in their letters to the early Christians. The great epistle to the Romans begins in this manner: Paul, a servant of Jesus Christ, called to be an apostle, separated unto the gospel of God: To all that be in Rome, beloved of God, called to be saints.

Paul, an apostle of Jesus Christ by the will of God, and Timothy our brother, unto the Church of God which is at Corinth.

Paul and Silvanus and Timothy, unto the Church of the Thessalonians: Grace be unto you.

Simon Peter, a servant and an apostle of Jesus Christ, to them that have obtained like precious faith with us through the righteousness of God and our Saviour Jesus Christ.

James, a servant of God and of the Lord Jesus Christ, to the twelve tribes which are scattered abroad, greeting.

Always stating who the writer was with the salutation to the ones addressed. Reminding these early Christians that they were but the servants of their divine Master Jesus Christ. They called Him Master and so He was. They were great Christians because first they were great servants.

William A. Holman.

At the Congregational Church tomorrow morning Mr. Rounds will preach on the subject "Undetected Losses" Sunday School at noon. The Comrades Of The Way will meet in the vestry at 6.30 o'clock.

At St. Peter's Church (Episcopal) Rev. E. O. Kenyon, rector, services for tomorrow will be appropriate for the Second Sunday in Advent: Holy Communion at 7.30; Church School at 9.30; Choral Eucharist and sermon at 10.30; vespers at 4.30.

At First Church of Christ Scientist, corner of Cedar and Brewster streets, Sunday services are at 10.30 and the subject of the Lesson-Sermon tomorrow will be "God the Preserver of Man." Sunday School is at 11.45. Wednesday evening testimony meeting is at 7.30. The reading room is located at 400 Main street, and is open week days from 2 until 5 p. m.

Rev. George H. Welch at the Universalist Church will have as the subject of his sermon "Travelers." The quartet will sing "Te Deum," "Schnecker" and "I Hear Thy Voice." Edith Lang, Church School will meet at noon, also the adult woman's class at Mrs. E. F. Glover's home. Y.P.C.U. at 5 p. m. The week's activities include: A meeting of the Knox County Ministerial Association at the vestry Monday forenoon, with noon dinner; Chapin Class Tuesday evening with Miss Ellen J. Cochran; Mission Circle Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Welch; also on Wednesday circle supper at 6 o'clock followed by a meeting of the Woman's Society.

"The Bible" will be the Sunday morning sermon topic at the Pratt Memorial Church in observance of Universal Bible Sunday. Leonard M. Dearden will preside at the organ. The choir will render the anthem, "The Lord is my light," Parker. The quartet composed of Mrs. Helen Wentworth, soprano; Mrs. Marianne Bullard, alto; Harold Greene, tenor; and Charles Rose, bass, will sing "O come to my heart, Lord Jesus," Ambrose. The church school, with classes for all age groups, meets at noon and Epworth League at 6.30 p. m. The Glad Gospel Service at 7.15 affords a delightful place to spend a happy Sunday evening.

Gospel hymns singing led by Parker Worrey and a chorus choir with Mr. Dearden at the piano. There will also be special musical numbers. Other features will give added attraction to this service. The pastor, Rev. Charles E. Brooks, will use as his sermon topic, "What is a Christian?" This sermon follows the one of last week on "The Origin of the Name 'Christian'." At the Tuesday evening prayer meeting the devotional topic will be "Thy will be done," this being the fifth study in the series on "The Lord's Prayer." The text will be "Believe." Much interest and a growing attendance are characterizing the work of this church. A glad day awaits all who attend its services.

At the Littlefield Memorial Church there is a prayer meeting at 10 o'clock and a preaching service at 10.30 when the pastor will take for his subject, "Paul's letter to the church at Rome." The choir will sing an anthem and Frank Gregory and Norman Crocker will sing a duet. Junior church meets at 10.30 also under the direction of Miss Olive Bragg and Mrs. Lima Barter; Sunday school at 11.45 with classes for all ages; Y.P.C.U. at 6.15 led by Miss Errell Simmons. At 7.15 there will be an all request program opened with a big sing. The musical numbers requested are a solo, "In the garden," by Mrs. Lima Barter; a xylophone solo, by Miss Vivian Chapin; a duet by Mrs. Christine Dorman and Mrs. Grace Fish, entitled, "No disappointment at street services (outsiders), 5789; Salvationists attending street services, 2100; Salvationists attending inside services, 2989; people accepting Christ in street and inside services, 89.

These figures do not include street meetings and services held in Camden, Belfast, and other surrounding towns.

hour. It is their meeting which opens at 6 o'clock. The people's evening service will open at 7.15 with the prelude and inspiration, assisted by the organ and piano. The choir will sing, "All of Thee," Vincent. The first of the "Youth Specials" will be given at this hour. Margaret Rogers will sing, "Samuel's Call," Sullivan. Mr. MacDonald will give his second sermon in the series on "Men of Victory" at this service, the subject being, "The man with the despised task, or Called by the Highest." The happy prayer and praise meeting will be held on Tuesday evening at 7.15.

Some More Figures Concerning the Good That the Salvationists Do

The local Salvation Army has presented to the public its aims, its work, its needs. A statement has been given of its welfare and charitable work; also the character building of its young people. Now we are to present to you some of the spiritual and religious work. Jesus Christ is the potter and we, the Salvation Army are the clay. The power of God purposes to minister to the great masses of people who would never hear the gospel of Christ if they did not go out into the highways and byways.

One of the religious activities of the Salvation Army is its street meetings. Time will not permit to tell of some of the wonderful work accomplished through the simple and yet attractive music and song and the simple gospel brought to the people through this kind of service. Thousands everywhere have had their eyes opened and have been turned from darkness into light, and from the power of Satan unto God that they might receive forgiveness of sins. Below is a statement of some of the Spiritual and Evangelistic work:

Street services held, 96; inside services held, 250; attendance at street services (outsiders), 5789; attendance at inside services, 7500; Salvationists attending street services, 2100; Salvationists attending inside services, 2989; people accepting Christ in street and inside services, 89.

hour. It is their meeting which opens at 6 o'clock. The people's evening service will open at 7.15 with the prelude and inspiration, assisted by the organ and piano. The choir will sing, "All of Thee," Vincent. The first of the "Youth Specials" will be given at this hour. Margaret Rogers will sing, "Samuel's Call," Sullivan. Mr. MacDonald will give his second sermon in the series on "Men of Victory" at this service, the subject being, "The man with the despised task, or Called by the Highest." The happy prayer and praise meeting will be held on Tuesday evening at 7.15.

The second sermon in the series on, "God's Gracious Gifts," will be given at the First Baptist Church Sunday morning. The subject will be, "God's Written Gift." This sermon is in recognition of Universal Bible Sunday. The choir selection will be, "New every morning is the love," Bouillard. "I know of a Book," Harkness, will be sung as a duet. An ever-growing church school with classes for men, women, boys and girls will meet at the noon hour. The Christian Endeavorers offer a good place to young people to spend an

ST. GEORGE CHURCHES

Tenant's Harbor and Wiley Corner

In keeping with Universal Bible Sunday the morning topic in each of these churches will be "The Light Shined in Darkness," the subject suggested by the American Bible Society. Bible School at the usual hours in each church. The pastor will speak in the Wiley Corner Church at 7, subject, "Your First Love." The members of the newly organized Christian Endeavor Society will furnish music. The 6.15 service at the Harbor will be combined with the 7 service, which will be an illustrated lecture, "Central Philippine Speaks for Herself," under the direction of the Christian Endeavor Society, and to which the public is invited. Take Bibles to the mid-week services.

Long Cove

At St. George's Church (Episcopal), Rev. E. O. Kenyon, pastor, Sunday services will be vespers and sermon at 7 p. m. All are welcome.

THE SPEECH READERS

The Speech Readers Club met Thursday. Mrs. Flora Lovejoy, chairman of sewing, reported six pairs of mittens completed. Plans were made for a Christmas party to take place on Thursday, Dec. 21, and these committees were appointed: Tree, Mrs. Frank Hewitt; decorations, Miss Hope Greenhalgh, Mrs. Marguerite MacAlman and Mrs. Freeman F. Brown; refreshments, Mrs. Lovejoy, Mrs. Mary Veazie and Mrs. Elizabeth Haines. The remainder of the afternoon was spent in cards and games. Bridge honors were won by Miss Olive Gilchrist and Mrs. Lovejoy. In Flinch by Miss Dorothy Ames of North Haven and in anagrams by Mrs. Gussie Achorn. Refreshments presided over by Miss Gilchrist featured a festive birthday cake to observe the birthday of Mrs. J. C. Hill, one of the most valued members.

IS AWARDED PENSION

GUARDIANS OF OUR COAST

What our lightkeepers and coast guardsmen are doing to protect coastwise shipping by day and by night. The day's news from many lonely outposts along Maine's waterfront.

Deer Island Thoroughfare

Not much news at this station now. Mrs. Frances C. Murphy and children Effie, Harlow and Alice visited her parents over Thanksgiving, coming out from town Wednesday afternoon and returning Saturday.

We had only nine mail days in November, the smallest number in one month since we came here ten years ago last June.

Manana

W. H. Woodward and family have been on a ten days' leave which was spent at Prospect Harbor and Jonesport. A frigid spell of weather accompanied the whole time.

A few days ago Donald Clark of the Maine Music Co., Rockland, spent the afternoon demonstrating a new model Victor radio at the keeper's house. A very pleasant afternoon was passed listening to different programs from everywhere, including the western stations and Canadian reception.

A fine Thanksgiving dinner was enjoyed, both families having dinner together at the keeper's. A large turkey was on the menu and of course pumpkin pie couldn't be omitted.

Mrs. Vinal Foss has had a sore finger, caused by a carbuncle. It is much better at this writing.

Mr. Simmons, the fish warden, is at Monhegan for the lobster season, which starts soon as the weather permits to set off pots.

All the children at the station have had bad colds but are much better now. They have lost several days' school.

A baby bunny is the new pet at the station.

We all extend our sympathy to Fred Osgood and hope for a speedy recovery to health.

Doubling Point Range

Not much news of interest to write about from this station as usual, however I'll do the best I can.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred D. Pinkham and sons Roger and Gordon spent the Thanksgiving holiday at the station. A fine dinner was served consisting of roast turkey with all the fixings, fruit salad, candy and mixed nuts, pies and pudding. To tell the truth I haven't got straightened out again to normal conditions yet, but think I am gaining slowly all the time.

Keeper Nye is busy these days cutting bushes and mowing down weeds and cleaning up in general on his mile stretch of road leading to the main highway. I need some help, Charlie.

Collier Berwindvale passed out by Dec. 3 after discharging 7000 tons coal at the Kennebec Wharf and Coal Co. Oil tanker Georgine passed in Dec. 2 and out again later. Steamer Eulalia passed in 8 p. m. Dec. 2 with fertilizer to be shipped by rail to Bowdoinham. Steamer Siren from Rotterdam with 2500 tons fertilizer was due to arrive at noon Dec. 4.

Wishing all Lighthouse and Coast Guard brothers the best of wishes. I will sign off for this time.

Matinicus Rock

Back after three weeks' shore leave. Mr. and Mrs. Powers went to Boston and Worcester on business and visiting relatives. Returned to Rockland and made a trip to Portland, Mrs. Maude Halliwell and Miss Ethel Payson of Rockland making this trip with them. Mr. Powers visited retired Keeper Mann at Marine Hospital.

Thanksgiving at hand makes us wish for some of those wonderful turkeys that Mrs. Lena Kincaid of Grafton, Mass. raises for market. We visited there for few days and enjoyed some fine chicken dinners. This turkey and chicken farm is something to be proud of, as it is operated by women, Mrs. Kincaid, her charming daughter, and her sister, Mrs. Clara Tobbin. The only man of the house, Mrs. Kincaid's son Bobby, just left for a three year stay in China, on board ship U.S.S. Augusta. A farewell party was given him on his ten-day furlough at home before leaving on his long trip. Mr. Powers enjoyed his trip to Providence as he met several police officers, he used to travel with when he was on the police force in that city.

Sorry to hear of the death of Mrs. Herman Smith of Manset, wife of the stockkeeper we used to trade with while on Mount Desert Rock and Duck Island. Also in the death of Capt. Parker and his only daughter Ardell, which took place within ten days of each other, Capt. Parker being the brother of Mrs. Keene. Capt. Parker was well known to many, as he followed the water all his life, retiring two years ago, after being captain of the boat that ran from Bar Harbor to Winter Harbor nearly 40 years.

Second Assistant Ball and wife are expecting Mrs. Ball's father out for the holidays, but as it looks right now

Mr. Roy of Millbridge will be lucky if he gets here for Easter.

A flock of large white Arctic owls landed here the past week.

The pastime here is patchwork quilts and freezing ice cream. Wishing all along the coast, the best of luck.

Burnt Coat Harbor

We recently had a very pleasant visit from Rev. Orville Guphill, Missionary pastor on the Sunbeam.

A sociable given by the Rebekah Lodge at I.O.O.F. hall, Swan's Island, was attended by the young folks of the Light.

Willard Daggett lobster smack passed station Dec. 6. There are many other small fishing boats that pass the station. One three-master passed outside. Not much news here to write at this time.

Baker Island

Lucille Faulkingham, a pupil at the Islesford school has been confined to her home by illness.

Mrs. Frank Faulkingham and daughter Myrtle were dinner guests of Mrs. Hazel Reynolds last Friday.

I am sorry to see such a small sum of lighthouse news in the paper. I suppose all are busy tearing down buildings and getting ready for winter weather.

Miss Myrtle Faulkingham spent a very enjoyable visit at Rockland with her friends Mrs. Fairfield Moore and family.

Mrs. Leighton of New York spent three weeks at this station and she liked on here very much. Everyone was sorry to see her leave and hopes to see her back again.

Keeper Faulkingham spent a birthday with his family all home but one son Riley, whose duty called him away at the time. He received many useful gifts and one he would just as soon not have received. That one was a cold.

Petit Manan

It has been some time since we wrote to the lighthouse column as the keeper has been on leave, but here we are again. It looks funny around here now as all three fuel sheds and the old barn are torn down. It makes a better view but we miss our sheds as they were very handy.

Keeper and Mrs. Fagone returned Nov. 19 from leave. Keeper was very ill for a few days while on leave and is not feeling well yet. The Great Wasp Island Coast Guard boat brought them back and took Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Fletcher to Pigeon Hill, as he was called to Lubec on account of his grandmother Mrs. Mary Ramsdell being very ill. He returned Nov. 28 and James Freeman and family went to Jonesboro on a short leave.

As Muriel's school closes at Beals we are expecting her here to spend the vacation with us.

Keeper Fagone visited Keeper and Mrs. Muise of Moose Peak Light while on leave. Since that time Mrs. Muise has gone to the Eastern Maine General Hospital in Bangor for an operation. We hope that she will get help.

The Cuckolds

John Snowman who has been ill is much better.

Ralph Gray left for his home at Newagen Nov. 24 after acting as substitute for Harold Seavey who has been on a hunting trip at Columbia Falls. Mr. Seavey and Mr. Gray each brought back a deer.

Ellsworth Gray has been confined to the house with a severe cold. William Mayberry has gone to Portland to spend the winter.

We are anxiously awaiting the return of Mr. Morong to finish the job on the engines.

Saddleback Lodge

Back again after a 16-day leave. Had a lot of bad weather but a real good time. Saw Mr. and Mrs. Ellison Small go by while I was looking at three moose, two deer and a bear a party had on the International Bridge at Calais, and in St. Stephen I failed to locate Mr. and Mrs. Small. Well I surely filled up on deer meat while home. Saw Mr. Marston, assistant at Quoddy Head and several other keepers and retired keepers.

Mr. Mathie, second assistant is home on a short furlough. Things are quiet here at the Lodge and the weather bad. I have just had a light case of flu and am still doctoring it. Will be glad when it is all gone.

Egg Rock

Here we are again and we're almost ready for the "Red Flannels." Just hate to look at the thermometer nowadays—14 is the lowest so far, and that is about 50 degrees too low.

Asst. Keeper Dalzell is happy to announce a new "Boss" in the family—a son, born Nov. 14.

Prohibition seems to have been hung on the yardarm or walked the plank, but of course Egg Rock will still be dry (except of salt spray).

Mr. and Mrs. Alton Pinkham, C. G. and children Clara and Alton recently spent two weeks' leave with his parents. His mother accompanied him home from Haverhill, Mass. While here he tried to get a deer, but couldn't seem to make connections. Maybe he had the wrong timetable. This NRA you know has changed everything, wouldn't be surprised if it changed our clothes pretty soon.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Pinkham and daughter Mary recently spent a week at the light while he was recovering from an attack of gallstones. Asst. Keeper Dalzell spent part of the day recently with his wife and infant son at Hull's Cove.

Mrs. J. B. Pinkham was in Bar Harbor over the weekend recently and went to Bangor on a shopping trip. She reports Bar Harbor as being very quiet.

Such poor weather and so few birds has kept the "coot stews" on the zero mark so far this fall. Hope for better luck before the season closes.

Asst. Keeper Dalzell lost a pair of nice ducks over the weekend. Both refused to eat and soon died, almost perfect mallards. He still has two ducks and a drake left. One Christmas dinner gone, it will have to be chicken now.

Congratulations to Keeper Tracy on his new appointment and to Asst. Keeper Grey on his return to our ranks.

Ram Island

Hello lighthouse brothers and coast guard folks. Where are you? You are not writing any news.

Elmer Robinson has been on the sick list with a bad cold this week.

Capt. Thomas McPhee was at the light for a few days before leaving for Boston and Littleton. Capt. McPhee left Nov. 28 for Boston, and also the dog Oyster Wilson, for the winter months.

We are all glad to hear that Dr. William Hahn is gaining.

The Steamer Marshall B. Hall went East Dec. 2 and the spray was going all over her. Steamer Maland went by the station going west at 5 o'clock and it was very rough.

We thank Editor Fuller for our Courier-Gazette. We would miss the paper very much.

Keeper and Millard Robinson went ashore Wednesday of last week after mail and supplies, and to get Mrs. Robinson for Thanksgiving.

Thanksgiving At Indian River

Thanksgiving Day was celebrated at Indian River with a union service of the two churches of Indian River, the three churches of Jonesport and the Maine Sea Coast Mission. The people of Indian River were nearly all present, and many came from Jonesport.

The churches joining in this service were the Advent Christian and Latter Day Saints Churches of Indian River, the Reformed Baptist, Congregational and Latter Day Saints Churches of Jonesport and the Sea Coast Mission, which is undenominational.

Rev. Arthur Sargent of the Mission conducted the service. Rev. Newman Wilson of the Latter Day Saints Church led the singing and spoke on "Gratitude for the Blessings of Home." Rev. W. R. Ramsey of the Advent Christian Church spoke on "God's Presence in Nature, in Earth and Sky and Sea." Rev. Elbert S. Emery of the Jonesport Congregational Church spoke of the "Blessings of Christian Brotherhood of All Races and Nations." Elder William E. Rogers of the Jonesport Latter Day Saints Church offered the closing prayer.

Rev. Harry S. Wilson of the Jonesport Reformed Baptist Church was absent because he had gone to pilot a fishing vessel to Grand Manan, and the weather was such that he could not return on time. This Christian seaman and his theme were well represented by the hymn which all joined in singing:

Shout, ye islands of the sea
Echo back, ye ocean caves,
Earth shall have her jubilee,
Jesus saves, Jesus saves.

Waft it on the rolling tide,
Jesus saves, Jesus saves;
Toll to sinners, far and wide
Jesus saves, Jesus saves.

Everybody seemed to enjoy the service, and many spoke afterwards about what a fine thing it is to have all the churches unite as one in a service of thanksgiving and praise.

The old meeting house built 99 years ago, was almost full of people. The offering was taken for the "China Famine Relief Fund."

The idea of this service originated with "Aunt Julia" Dorr, the oldest member of the Advent Christian Church of Indian River. Her hobby is helping everybody and getting the folks around her to love and help each other.

Portland Head

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Dow of Portland were welcome visitors Monday evening last week.

Friday of last week Mrs. Thayer Sterling was guest of her sister Mrs. Charles Sterling at Peaks Island.

Willard R. Hill, Mrs. S. G. Robinson and Mrs. F. O. Hill went to see the picture "Duck Soup" in Portland Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl E. Kinney of St. George were weekend guests of the Ordered To Report!

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—Gosh, what a thrill! Here are my orders to join the Second Byrd Antarctic Expedition. The youngest member of the crew.

I'm going to the South Pole! To Little America—if Little America is still there, deep under the snow where it was left by the Admiral and his men in January, 1931.

Maybe I'd better tell you who I am and what this is all about. I am 22 years old. Just graduated from Harvard last June. My father is Captain Arthur Able, U. S. N. retired. He is now stationed at the Boston Navy Yard in charge of the Massachusetts Nautical Ship, the U. S. S. S. N. Tucker. One of my grandfathers, George Sanford, has been in the oil business for more than 50 years.

It would seem, therefore, that I come by two things naturally—love of sea adventure and my interest in automotive lubrication problems. I am going as fuel engineer of the Expedition and, believe me, it's going to be a big job. We are carrying every type of automotive engine—in monoplane, biplane, auto-gyro, snowmobile, tractor, oil-driven steamship, outboard motor boat, auxiliary sailing vessel and a motor boat cruiser. There are engines of every type on this amazing Expedition, air-cooled, water-cooled, engines for self-contained electrical generator units, even a Diesel engine.

Our leader, Rear-Admiral Byrd, tells me we shall do ten times as much flying as any polar expedition ever did before. And he promises to make me an expert aviator during our stay at the bottom of the world. That's a thrill! I have been less than 30 minutes in the air and now I am going up against the most dangerous and most difficult conditions that ever confronted a rookie flyer. For the past two months I have been studying the rudiments of fuel and oil engineering at one of the big oil plants in Bayonne, N. J.

For many long months, once we leave our base in New Zealand, we shall see a tree, a blade of grass, or any living thing except a few penguins, seals, gulls, killer whales and our own men and dogs, not forgetting Snow Shoes, our six-toed kitten. There is no wild life at the Hills. Mrs. S. G. Robinson and Mr. Kinney were celebrating another anniversary. Two large birthday cakes were very attractive. Mrs. Robinson received cards from Belleville, N. J., Redstone, N. H., St. George, and Portland.

Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Sterling and son Robert visited Mr. and Mrs. Dow at their home on Stevens avenue, Portland, Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. S. G. Robinson, Mrs. R. T. Sterling, Mrs. F. O. Hill, Willard Hill and F. O. Hill were in Portland Saturday to see the schooner Seth Parker which had just docked. From there they went to State Street Hospital where the Hills called on Capt. A. L. Perry. Mr. Perry is doing fine.

Tuesday of last week we watched the steam lighter Rocket sail past with the first cargo of Christmas trees ever to be shipped out of Maine by water. The Rocket came to Portland to fill bunkers. The trees were shipped from Stonington and were consigned to the Northern Christmas Tree Association, Newark, N. J. It is said there were 13,000 trees in the cargo, and Christmas is just around the corner. We look forward to a quiet peaceful day and if there is no sunshine in the sky there will surely be sunshine in our homes and hearts.

Let's be cheerful and try to bring a little sunshine to someone not able to find something to be thankful for. J. M. Barrie writes, "Those who bring sunshine to the lives of others cannot keep it from themselves."

Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Robinson returned home to Redstone, N. H., Friday of last week.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Dow, sons William, Byron and Richard, called on Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Sterling Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Beal and daughter Eleanor of White Head, and Mr. and Mrs. L. O. Goff and son Richard called on F. O. Hill and family Sunday.

Old Man Winter and the weather man got their heads together recently and what we got was not only in and about town, the air was full, roads got a share and we were lost to view for a while, but our signal could be heard.

Friday afternoon last week Capt. A. L. Perry received at the State Street

South Pole such as there is around the North Pole—no polar bears, walrus—practically nothing.

Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd, our famous leader, has spent the past two years preparing and gathering supplies for our journey—14,000 separate items! He has applied modern efficiency to exploration to an extent that permits us now to say that no other Polar Expedition ever set out with such an array of equipment. There are 85 of us besides Admiral Byrd.

I am reporting today to our big 10,000-ton flagship, the Jacob Ruppert, over at Tide Water Pier No. 3 in Bayonne, where we shall take on immense supplies of oil, gasoline and fuel oil. Then off for Norfolk for the big farewell radio party and more equipment.

Admiral Byrd is taking me with him for a very interesting reason. He is one of the greatest aviation enthusiasts in the world and he believes that the rapid development of American aviation depends largely upon the youth of the country. Therefore he is taking me along as a representative of the millions of young people of the United States. In order to deal more directly with the young aviators of the future, he has asked me to help organize the "Little America Aviation and Exploration Club." This we are now doing and I invite everybody in the country who is of high school age or over, and who is interested in aviation, exploration or adventure, to join it. There are no dues, no membership fees, no obligations whatever.

Admiral Byrd and I held an election and I was elected president of the Club. We shall establish executive headquarters for the club at Little America in the bleak and icy Antarctic. For the duration of the Expedition, however, we shall have headquarters in the United States, where I invite you to write me immediately.

To everyone who sends me a stamped, self-addressed envelope, at the Little America Aviation and Exploration Club, at the Hotel Lexington, 48th Street and Lexington Avenue, New York City, our American Headquarters, I will send a membership card in the club. Later I will send to each member a practical working map of the Polar regions we expect to visit so that you will be able to trace every step of our adventures by following these weekly letters I shall be addressing to the club. Send in your membership application. We are going to have a lot of fun together for the next two years.

Hospital the following callers: Keeper and Mrs. A. J. Beal and daughter Eleanor of White Head and daughter Mrs. L. O. Goff of Westbrook; Keeper F. O. Hill and Mrs. Hill. The keepers and their families went from there to call on retired keeper H. I. Hutchins and family. One of the old Matinicus Rock crowds together again excepting Keeper N. B. Fickett and Mrs. Fickett, now on Pond Island, and Helen Stevens, Mary Alice and Willard Hill. It had been 13 years since this crowd had met and we wonder which could talk fastest.

Mr. and Mrs. F. O. Hill, son Willard and Robert Sterling, Jr., visited the good ship Seth Parker Sunday afternoon. The boat was crowded and it was impossible to see the quarters provided for Seth Parker (as we know him) and his crew. What could be taken in gave an impression of being very comfy. All hands here listened with interest to the radio broadcast Tuesday night. Lighthouse families patiently awaiting the 10:45 Sunday night broadcasts are surely going to miss the little "gathering" and we wish Seth Parker and his crew bon voyage. The Seth Parker sailed out past Portland Head Light Wednesday night about 11:30.

ORFF'S CORNER

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Orff and son Arthur of Nashua, N. H., spent the holiday and weekend at Harold Achorn's.

Percy Ludwig and Alfred Jackson were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Earle in Auburn.

Mrs. Harold Orff, Miss Eleanor Achorn, George Upham and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Orff were in Rockland Friday of last week.

Mrs. Millie Kennedy and daughter Valda returned Sunday from Rockland. Valda, who has been in Knox Hospital for treatment is much improved.

The Thanksgiving service at the Community House was well attended. Friends were glad to welcome back the pastor Rev. E. R. Greene, who had been absent three weeks on account of illness. A Christmas tree and program is being planned for Saturday evening, Dec. 23.

WHITE HEAD

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Beal of the Light and Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Faulkingham attended the movies at Rockland Monday.

Mrs. Clifford Elwell and children of Rockland have moved here for the winter, occupying one of the L. R. Dunn bungalows.

Donald Ingals of Rockland has been the guest of Mrs. J. K. Lowe at Spruce Lodge during the school vacation.

The White Head Coast Guard were called out to look for Charles Watts and son Friday morning. The men went hunting after mink Thanksgiving and did not return. They were found safe at Grafton Island—but with a disabled engine. They were towed back to Tenants Harbor.

Keeper and Mrs. Beal, and Miss Eleanor Beal and Mr. and Mrs. L. O. Goff and son were guests for a day of Capt. and Mrs. Frank Hill at Portland Head Light during their trip to Westbrook.

Vincent Alley of the Light spent Thanksgiving week at Jonesport.

L. B. Beal, C. G. returned from 10 days' furlough at his home in Millbridge. He spent two days as guest of Capt. A. H. Calder, Great Wasp Island Coast Guard Station.

A flock of seven robins have been seen for several days in the field at Norton's Island.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Beal and Miss Eleanor Beal of the Light, motored to Westbrook Thanksgiving Day for the remainder of the week. They were guests of Mr. and Mrs. L. O. Goff. They were visitors on board the "Seth Parker" and were very cordially welcomed by Phillips Lord himself when it became known they were natives of Jonesport. They visited Leland Mann, former keeper of Two Bush Light, now undergoing a long siege of treatment at the Marine Hospital at Deering. They also visited former Keeper Hutchins of Boon Island Light at his home in Portland and found him in very good health.

SWAN'S ISLAND

Alfred Sprague was given a surprise party on Tuesday evening his 38th birthday. He has been a semi-invalid for several years and appreciates company. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Sprague, Mr. and Mrs. James Sprague, Alonzo Sprague, Myron and Warren Sprague, Annie Lunt, Laura Sprague, Alfred Sprague, Margaret Trask, Bernice Smith and Eugene Norwood. Ice cream and cake was served by Mrs. Alfred Sprague.

Friends of Capt. Emery Joyce are sorry to hear of his serious illness. He is in a hospital in Portland.

The churches are making plans for a Christmas concert.

Mrs. Annie Kelley feels that she was well cared for on Thanksgiving day. Mrs. Andrew Watson carried her a fine Thanksgiving dinner, consisting of chicken, dressing, carrots, turnip, string beans, potatoes, pickles, mince and pumpkin pie, pudding, cookies, apples and candy. She also received a nice box from Mrs. Josie Conary and Mrs. Lilla Moulden. Mrs. Kelley is a shut-in and appreciates her friends and neighbors at all times.

THOMASTON

Sharing honors with Seaside as Maine's most beautiful town, has an interesting historic background to enhance its present charm. Stately homes set well back from wide, cool elm arched streets set Thomaston apart as an ideal residential town. Here is found the famous Knox Mansion, museum of rare historical gems of the Revolutionary period, surrounded within easy driving distance by innumerable spots of Revolutionary and colonial significance. Too, modern Thomaston presents an active business aspect including within its corporate limits the great $1,000,000 mill of the Lawrence Portland Cement Co.

BUSY WHOLESALE CONFECTIONER

High Quality Goods and Strict Attention To Business Have Brought Success To Nelson C. Carr

Nelson C. Carr, well known confectionery wholesaler, has had the good fortune to see a steady growth of business during the past decade. This is due largely to his adherence to the best available products, charges consistent with good business, consideration of his customers in all matters and a thorough knowledge of and service to his business.

Born in Knox County and a life-long resident here, Mr. Carr has built up a large circle of friends and acquaintances who universally refer to him with the nickname "Tish." In early manhood he had charge of the extensive candy department of the Rockland Produce Co. and thus gained a far flung knowledge and contact with the trade.

In 1928 he started operations on his own account and was accorded immediate success. The business has steadily extended since under his careful guidance. He has an especially good distribution among the islands. Mail orders are given prompt attention with return mail service in almost every instance being possible. Telephone orders are given the same fine service, call 1243-Rockland.

The famous Dow's Utopia Chocolates one of the best and most favorably known lines made anywhere, is Boston's pride. It carries an exceptionally rich and heavy coating and the centers are delicious with a splendid assortment of fruits, nuts, etc. Mr. Carr is proud to present this great brand to the trade. Hersheys world favorite chocolate bars, the biggest seller of all time, is on Mr. Carr's list as are the delicious Blue Ribbon potato chips.

A special product which is meeting with rapidly increasing favor on every hand is Mohawk Dutch Malt, a beer prepared especially for him and bearing his name. It is bottled in Utica, N. Y. A companion product he handles is Criterion Salt Codfish. It is packed in one pound boxes and contains nothing except the pure white codfish, packed under the best of conditions. It is just right to use. Soak it a short time and it is ready for use.

"The ever popular penny candies are stocked by this progressive wholesaler on a large scale. Hundreds of kinds are carried and the adult tasting one of these low priced pieces will find a pleasant surprise, for the ingredients are pure and wholesome, a great change from the practice a few decades ago when cheap candies were "cheap" in every sense of the word. One needs have no fear of the penny candies made under the modern methods.

Novelties, prize packages, a vast variety of special bars, nuts, fruits etc., and at this season, many charming Christmas specialties are featured.

TIRE SERVICE AND SAFETY

Goodrich Tire Stations Inspect All Shoes For Faults and Weaknesses—Avoid Under Inflation

Motorists should check their tires regularly and carefully in the interests of family safety, according to Sherman E. Lord of Lord's Filling Station, located at Maverick Square, Rockland, who recently was appointed a dealer for The B. F. Goodrich Company.

"It is a safe and wise thing for every motorist to check his tires regularly so he will be protected constantly against later difficulty," declares Mr. Lord.

"A thorough check of tires means a saving of money, time and trouble. "Tires, despite their tremendous improvement, may be vulnerable points on every automobile, providing as they do, the only contact between the vehicle and the highway. Unless tires are reasonably maintained, there is always the chance for accident.

"Many motorists are ready to believe their tires are safe as long as they hold air. "However, unless a check is made, the average driver does not know his tires well enough to tell the top speed he can travel with safety.

"Many tire faults are not visible at a casual glance. A tack cannot be detected when it first is picked up unless it happens to catch the eye. Many cuts or breaks can not be seen without removing the tire from its rim. Such inspection is a part of the job of every Goodrich tire service man.

"Inner tubes, too, appear satisfactory to most car drivers as long as tires hold up, but improper inflation, a pinched tube, leaking valve, or other apparently minor or unforeseen faults contribute heavily to tire failure and are a hazard to occupants of the car."—adv.

BUY NOT, EAT NOT

By BOOTH TARKINGTON

Sometimes we have to go against our training or go broke. Sometimes what we have always believed to be a rule of virtuous conduct proves fatal in practice. For instance, we have grown up in the belief, fostered by our parents and teachers and enforced by our government, that we have no right to take or use the property of another person without his consent, but if the property in question happens to be a blackjack that the other person is about to bring down on my head I shall have a better chance of surviving if I perceive, in time, the wisdom of clinging unalterably to old convictions. That is, there are times of emergency when clinging to an old conviction will be ruinous. Let us consider the present time in its relation to our old conviction in favor of thrift.

People of pioneer stock are often spoken of as the "backbone of the country," and probably they are. Pioneers are thrifty or they don't survive. If the wood pile is used too freely in the autumn it may not last through the winter, and the Midland child learned thrift at its grandmother's knee. Moreover, we've been taught for several generations that it isn't what a man earns that counts and takes care of him in his old age; it's what he saves. We've always believed that thrift is a virtue, that spending is risky and that squandering is suicidal. We demand thrift from our government, vote against political candidates proven unthrifty, and we investigate, and often relegate to private life, officials shown to be carelessly lavish with public funds. The value of thrift, indeed, is one of our strongest convictions. No one doubts that it is a right and useful conviction or that it would be dangerous to unsettle it; but here is the United States government coming to us now, asking us to buy, buy, buy, advising us to spend our money rather than to save it, and generally appearing to set itself strongly in opposition to that old principle of thriftiness in which we were trained. There seems to be a contradiction somewhere.

Moreover, the government asks us to spend at a time when we have the least to spare, at a time when the Federal government itself, as well as our State, county and city governments, are taking heavily from us in taxes and in that way lessening our power to spend. We still, our government, through the N.R.A., asks us to spend at a moment of great financial uncertainty in our lives, at a moment when we don't know whether we're emerging from the depression or going deeper into it, and when we aren't sure whether we're less afraid of the future than we were a year ago, or more so. The curious thing about the government's exhortation to us to spend is that the exhorters know how we feel and how we're situated; they know our old conviction in favor of thriftiness and they agree with that conviction—and yet these same exhorters ask us to buy, buy, buy!

What's the answer? Money is a means of trade. If you had a cord of wood and no food, and your neighbor had a cellar full of potatoes and no fuel, and if neither of you were willing to trade, he'd have raw potatoes to eat but he'd freeze to death, and you'd have heat enough perhaps, but you'd starve to death. Thrift is indeed a virtue; but this is a time of emergency during which it's necessary to buy goods so that somebody'll have money enough to pay us for what we produce. If it's hard for us to get rich by washing one another's shirts, it's certainly impossible for us to make a living by washing our own. It seems wiser to live by spending than to perish by saving.

Mrs. Frank Bengren was in Rockland Monday to visit her husband, who is a patient at Knox Hospital.

Mrs. Ernest Arey will lead the senior Christian Endeavor Sunday evening, the subject "What Does Salvation Mean?"

Three Rockland salesmen were entertained at a delicious rabbit dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Newbert last week. "Tish" Carr, who holds the record for dumping eating in Knox County, was almost defeated by the hostess who probably could have won under less expert competition.

The Island Players who will present "Bound to Mary" the first of the year, held a rehearsal in Union Church vestry Thursday evening. Supper was served.

Henry F. Raymond died at his home Tuesday. He was born in Cape Ann Mass., the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Raymond. His age was 58 years, 8 months and 5 days. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Mertie Raymond and one daughter Mrs. Arthur Malstrom and three grandchildren. He is also survived by three brothers Alfred, Thomas and Frank, all of this town and of one sister Mrs. Alex Moler of Marlboro, Mass. Mr. Raymond was a stone cutter by trade, employed for many years by the Town of Granite Company. For the past few years employed as paving cutter for J. Leopold Company. Mr. Raymond was a respected and esteemed citizen, and leaves a large circle of relatives and friends to mourn his loss. Funeral services were held at the home Friday at 2 o'clock, Rev. N. P. Alwood, pastor of Union Church officiating. There were beautiful floral offerings, silent tributes of love and respect. Interment was made in Cummings Cemetery. The bearers: George Gray, Thomas Baum, Elmer Simmers, Carl O. Swanson. Members of the paving cutters' union of which Mr. Raymond was a member.

Swen Clemetson, who was discouraged and sought to end his troubles a few weeks ago, by cutting his throat, has returned to his home at Long Cove, and sympathizing neighbors and friends are pleased to find him rapidly recovering.

Earl Yonkers, Corvallis, Mont., rancher, has adopted modern warfare methods in his fight to rid his farm of gophers. Yonkers reported complete success in exterminating the pests by inserting a rubber tube into gopher holes and attaching the tube to the exhaust pipe of his automobile. Carbon monoxide gas kills the animals.

APPLETON RIDGE

Mrs. Ethel Moody and son Lawrence have been spending a few days with relatives in Augusta.

Mrs. Hazle Perry was supper guest of Mrs. Edna Griffin Wednesday of last week.

Mrs. Gertrude Moody has been visiting her daughter Mrs. Alice Buck in Ellsworth, for a few days.

The one-act play which was given at the Harvest Home was presented Wednesday evening at the South Liberty Church with the same cast with one exception, Elaine Harris taking Alice Lovejoy's part.

"Bobby" Griffin visited his schoolmate Warren Moody Friday afternoon.

The W.C.T.U. met with Mrs. Blanche Davidson Friday afternoon with nine members present and it was a very interesting meeting. One of the nickel strips being put out from Knox Hospital was filled from the collection. The following program under the direction of Miss Fannie Gushue was enjoyed: Reading, Modern Day Independence, Eva Robinson; song, with guitar accompaniment, Life's Railroad, Chrystal Stanley; readings, Incidents That Illustrates Elizabeth Stanley; Not an Alluring Prospect, Elizabeth Newbert; Cash Value of Prohibition, Lottie Waterman; Beer and Taxes, Laura Waterman; Some One Prayed, Adna Pitman; Comparing Food and Alcohol, Chrystal Stanley and Adna Pitman; remarks, Fannie Gushue; song, with guitar accompaniment, Leave It There, Chrystal Stanley. Next meeting will be with Adna Pitman.

Miss Lucy T. Moody entertained at her home Friday afternoon five of her young girl friends, Misses Esther Griffin, Julia Brown, Ida Williams, Elizabeth Fish and Eleanor Griffin. The afternoon was pleasantly spent with jigsaw puzzles, candy pulling and games.

WASHINGTON

Plans are completed for the fair and supper to be held at Grange hall Dec. 13. A program is being prepared by Mrs. Inez Cunningham and local talent, which consists of a play and other numbers. It is hoped that everyone who possibly can will patronize this affair, as the proceeds will go for the running expenses of the church.

Washington High School Notes

The Minstrel Revue given by the students of the high school was a great success. The excellent presentation of this show with its able cast reflected the ability of Miss Lincoln and Mr. Heyward as coaches. After paying expenses a sum of $40 was realized. This money has been used to pay for a set of encyclopedias. The school feels proud to get this debt settled and to become possessor of a fine set of reference books.

The boys' basketball team is organized and ready for strenuous practice. The team has been fortunate to secure the dance hall at North Walpole for their games. Frederick Light is manager of the team.

The senior play books have come and everyone is enthusiastic over "Dying to Live." Tryouts are now being given for the purpose of choosing the characters.

There have been considerable absences in school for the past two weeks due to the prevalent epidemic. These students are recovering and are anxious to get back.

Shadow Movies For The Kids

LIGHTS! Out of the darkness on the living room wall springs a boxer. He crouches, feints, his gloved hand flashes in a neat uppercut—another—then he ducks away. Weaving and blocking he comes in again—the left!—the right!—again he dances off out of danger.

Across the window curtain marches Pass in Boots. His eyes roll, his arms move, his tail wags pops out of the gloom and climbs, gesticulating, up the side of the living room door. "Maud," the laughing donkey, comes in hee-hawing and biting. A ship sails by, rolling in comic action as he mounts to the top of the book case, "Punch," in a heavy sea. A young rider races his horse right up the staircase. The whole house is magically peopled with weird and funny characters.

"Shadow Movies" is one of the new thrills for youngsters this winter. It is a clever adaptation of the flashlight to entertainment use. A leading flashlight and battery maker has evolved out of cardboard a complete movie camera, a cast of actors and the means for making their act. By following directions which come with the flashlight, these stars of the shadow screen can be multiplied indefinitely.

The movie equipment comes free with the flashlight, the rays of which are so brilliant that no screen is necessary.

GORHAM NORMAL

(By Edna Delaney)

The school closed for the Thanksgiving holidays. Among the students who spent these days at home were Mary Stockbridge, Anita Gatti, of Rockland; Katherine True, Hope; Helen Stone, Camden; Earle Achorn, Rockport; and Mary Bickford and Ethelyn Gibson of Damariscotta.

The members of the Commuters Club were in charge of the chapel exercises last Wednesday morning. This program was devoted to Thanksgiving.

Members of the editorial board of the Green and White held a business meeting recently. It was decided that the business manager, Earle Achorn, of Rockport, is to start his soliciting for advertisements soon.

About 50 members of the Outdoor Club went on a hike to South Gorham recently. Among the girls were Helen Stone, Katherine True, Mary Stockbridge and Anita Gatti.

Mrs. Maude Andrews Lincoln, formerly a teacher here, is the guest of Miss Doris Lincoln a member of the junior class. Saturday night Mrs. Lincoln read the play "Dinner at Eight" written by George Kaufman and Edna Ferber, and later she read "The Barretts of Wimpole Street" to members of a senior class in literature. Mrs. Lincoln is a reader of extraordinary ability and is always very well received. We feel that the members of Normal School have been very fortunate in having a talented speaker as their guest.

The Poetry Club is to establish a small creative branch which is to meet every other Monday night. The purpose of this group is to write original poems which will later be published in book form. Helen Stone and Katherine True are members.

Miss Harriet Trask, a teacher in the history department of the Training School, spent the Thanksgiving holiday at her home in Rockland. Miss Johnson, who is connected with the English department of the Normal School also spent her vacation at her home in Appleton.

Miss Mary Hastings of South Shaftsbury, Vermont, and Miss Jessie L. Keene of Waldoboro, members of the Normal School faculty spent the holiday in New York.

The Civic committee is beginning plans to send its delegates to the Annual Convention held each year in New York. At this convention all Normal Schools and State Teacher's Colleges are represented. Earle Achorn and Katherine True are members.

The Dramatic Club will soon hold tryouts for the play "At the Sign of the Pewter Jug" which will be given sometime in January. Mary Stockbridge, is an active member.

survives, and this union was extremely happy. A son was born to them but died at an early age. Mr. Cook held many offices of public trust, serving as town treasurer for many years. He was a staunch Republican and vitally interested in civic affairs. He was a Mason and a member of the board of the Methodist Church.

Funeral services were conducted by Rev. Mr. Lewis at the church in the presence of many friends. The impressive Masonic service was also performed. General sympathy goes out to the bereaved widow.

FRIENDSHIP

Austin B. Cook

This community was saddened by the death Nov. 29 of Austin B. Cook, a lifelong resident of this town. In early manhood he followed the sea, transporting lobsters from Nova Scotia to the States. Later he engaged in the grocery business for 26 years most successfully. He moved to Rockland and conducted a laundry for seven years on Limerock street, afterward returning to Friendship to enter the poultry business.

He was married to Ella Davis who

WARREN

The members of this publicity committee appointed at the Woman's Club Tuesday evening wish to call the attention of every citizen in Warren to the Federal offer tendered any town that wishes to build a new school building within a year: Mrs. Grace Wyllie, Mrs. Carrie Smith, Mrs. Inez Mathews, Mrs. Abbie J. Newbert, and Mrs. Anna Starrett. The offer in a nutshell is this: The Federal Government will give outright 30 per cent of the cost of such a building to any town undertaking the project. The other 70 per cent would be a loan from the Federal government, payment of which would cover a period of 30 years at 4 per cent, payment not to start until four years hence. To take advantage of this offer plans for such a building must be approved by John McDonough, NRA agent in Augusta before Jan. 1. The only stipulation on the part of the government would be, that work start immediately on approval of the plans.

Ivy Chapter, O.E.S., will have a supper, entertainment and Christmas tree at their next stated meeting, Dec. 15. Members of the supper committee: Mrs. Eleanor Barrett, Mrs. Abbie J. Newbert, Mrs. Emma Wyllie, Mrs. Evelyn Robinson, Mrs. Anna Starrett and Miss Martha Studley; entertainment committee, Mrs. Carrie Butler, Mrs. Mary Berry; Christmas tree, Mrs. Nettie Jameson, Mrs. Sadie Barrows.

Pupils of the Hinckley Corner and Malcolm Corner primary schools and intermediate school, numbering 100, will give a Christmas program at Glover hall, Dec. 15, from 1.15 to 4, under supervision of their music teacher, Mrs. Nettie Vinal. Numbers on the program follow: Two songs by all three schools, a radio concert given by pupils of Hinckley Corner school, a musical drama, "Old Woman in the Shoe" by pupils of Malcolm Corner school, and the musical play "Santa Claus." Three Christmas trees, one for each school, will be the closing feature of the afternoon and it is hoped that Chris Kringle will be present. The proceeds will be divided evenly between the three schools.

A Christmas party, benefit of the ladies' circle of the Congregational Church, was held Thursday afternoon and evening at the home of Mrs. Iva McKellar and Mrs. Flora McKellar, and was all the name implied and more, skilfully engineered by Mrs. Gertrude Hahn, assisted by Mrs. Nancy Clark, Mrs. Mary Berry, Mrs. Iva McKellar and Mrs. Eleanor Barrett. The rooms were attractively decorated with Christmas greens, colored lights, and a handsome Christmas tree. Even the tables on which a delicious lunch of mashed potato, creamed chicken and peas, pickles, garnished with sweet red pepper, rolls, cake and coffee was served to the 53 who sat down to supper, bore a tiny decorated tree in the center. An appropriate entertainment with these numbers was given in the evening, two readings by Miss Marguerite Haskell, "The Beau of Bath" and "Twins the Day After Christmas" won much applause, and it was an appreciative audience who saw Herbert K. Thomas and Mrs. Alzada Simmons in a one-act play "The Night Before Christmas," depicting a young couple afflicted with an epidemic of relatives who came in on them for the holiday, the cares and troubles of the day forgotten when they heard someone going by singing that Christmas carol "Silent Night, Holy Night." The Christmas tree followed, with Rev. H. I. Holt as Santa and much merriment was caused by his witty remarks and by gifts received. Chorus singing concluded the program, the leaders being Mrs. Alice Brown, Mrs. Adelaide Norwood, Mrs. Nettie Vinal, Miss Hilda Aspy, Mrs. Ruby Kallio sang, accompanied on the violin by Mrs. Mary Berry the Christmas song "It Came Upon the Midnight Clear." Doughnuts and sweet cider were served at the end of this successful party. Mention is made of William Barrett who acted as all round handy man and the ladies feel indebted to him for his many courteous acts; both before, during and after the party.

Miss Edna F. Boggs will return home Monday from Portland where she has been guest of her sister.

At the Baptist Church tomorrow the morning theme will be "Banners Taken Away." Sunday school will meet at noon and Christian Endeavor at 6 o'clock. The evening topic will be "Gambling For a Coat."

Miss Grace A. Stetson, a former resident of Warren, died Friday in Portland, aged 53. For many years she had been a shut-in and a great sufferer. Funeral services will be held in Portland Monday morning and the body brought to this town for interment, services to be held Monday afternoon at 1 o'clock from the Warren Baptist Church. A niece, Miss Mildred Stetson of Thomaston, is the only near relative.

THE REALM OF MUSIC

Gladys St. Clair Morgan

Death has claimed another of Rockland's staunch musical allies Mrs. Clara Spear. In the passing of these older musicians, a place is left that somehow cannot be filled. Although their musical activities may have ceased many years back, their high musical standard has never been lowered. In Mrs. Spear's case particularly for many years she occupied an important place in local musical circles. Her fine soprano voice was a part of the Congregational choir for a long period. Her choice of solos and her renditions are still recalled. More than once in my seeking for material I have had someone say, "Clara Spear used to sing such and such a number at the Congregational church. I shall always remember how beautifully she sang it."

Mrs. Spear was one of the founders of the Rubinstein Club, giving richly in service to that organization up to quite recent years. Her interest in our local musicians, in our activities, never ceased. She always held skyward the banner of good music, never failed to promote its interests, and went out of her way many times to encourage the young musician. I recall well when I was first a member of the Rubinstein Club, a young singer studying with Agnes Pooler, and beginning to sing here and there a bit in church. To have Mrs. Spear commend my work was the most gratifying tribute I could have. I felt she knew and that she was always sincere. There are many lovely things about Mrs. Spear to remember, and among these will always be her part in our music.

Through the kindness of Miss Ellen Tolman, a former Rockland girl now residing in Auburn, Mass., I have a program of the Holy Cross McCormack concert of Nov. 26.

It is a beautifully gotten up affair the cover, of a heavy white embossed paper, with green lettering. On the first inner page is a picture of Rev. Francis J. Dolan, S.J., and other portraits are of the Glee Club and of McCormack himself. A friendly face smiling out of the Glee Club group makes me look a bit closer and I see a Rockland boy, Albert McCarty. The remainder of the six-page program is given over to the formal program and the list of patrons and patronesses.

McCormack opened with "She Never Told Her Love" by Haydn, and Sentirsi il petto accendere by Vinci. His second group consisted of Memnon by Arthur Poole, Good Night, Dear Old Love by Melody, arr. by A. C. Buten, and Paris Angelique by Cesar Franck, with organ and piano obligato. Miss Tolman has marked this number as especially lovely. A group of Irish folk songs was given, for what would a McCormack program be without them? The Fanal Grove, The Ballymore Ballad, Little Boats, and Kitty, My Love.

He gave as his first encore at the conclusion of this group "The Rose of Tralee" and returned twice more. His final group was Far Apart by Edwin Schneider (his accompanist), She Rested By the Broken Brook by Coleridge-Taylor, and Bless This House by May H. Brahe, which Miss Tolman again marks as "particularly beautiful." McCormack responded four times. The last time he sang "Believe Me If All Those Endearing Young Charms" and as the applause continued the Glee Club entered and sang their Alma Mater song, McCormack singing with them from the wing. At the conclusion the curtain was drawn aside to show McCormack, and more and continued applause followed.

The Glee Club numbers presented an appealing selection.

Miss Tolman writes that the Echo Song was delightful, one group on the stage, with echo effect from one wing. The Sleigh was "delightfully" jolly, the Ibanez number was repeated. It was especially interesting in "Hospodoe Pomeleology" a Russian number, having recently heard the Don Cossacks, also through study of Russia this season in the Methebesee Club. Miss Tolman marks this number as "unusual," and the written explanation reads: "Russian choirs produce an astounding effect in the singing of this composition. The singers begin with broad open tone PFF, pronouncing each syllable distinctly and in a semi-staccato manner. As the priest raises the cross on high to give the blessing, the choir follows his movements in a pictorial manner, singing PFF when his hands are upraised. As he gradually lowers the cross, the music becomes softer and softer until it approaches a faint whisper. As he raises the cross again, the sound is gradually intensified, until at the climax a full voiced fortissimo is achieved."

Lawrence Tibbett has been awarded the gold medal of the American Academy of Arts and Letters for excellence in stage diction during 1932-1933. The Metropolitan Opera baritone is the first opera singer to receive this award, which previously has been bestowed on Walter Hampden, Edith Wynne Matthison, Otis Skinner, Julia Marlowe, George Arliss and Alexander Carlisle. At the same time the medal for diction over the radio went to James Wallington of the National Broadcasting Company, and the fiction medal to Booth Tarkington.

In a review (Christian Science Monitor) of a recent Lawrence Tibbett recital at the Hotel Statler, Boston, this appears: "To an English speaking audience, Mr. Tibbett paid the compliment of singing all songs in English, with the exception of an encore 'The Evening Star' from Tannhauser. Nor did the text appear to suffer in translation." His program included songs of Handel, Brahms, Moussorgsky, and others. One of his lighter numbers was Browning's amusing "Spite Fence."

Paderewski, who had planned to make a short tour of this country beginning in January, has cabled his manager, George Engles, that he is obliged to cancel his trip because acute and persistent neuritis prevents his practicing or playing. The pianist at present is at his home in Switzerland and will remain indefinitely.

Josef Hofmann returned from Europe Nov. 18. Having completed an extensive, and wonderfully successful, concert tour abroad, Hofmann made his first appearance of the American season in New York Dec. 6, playing for the benefit of the New York Philharmonic Orchestra. The pianist will mark his birthday Jan. 10, with a recital at Carnegie Hall, New York.

Edward Johnson, veteran Metropolitan Opera tenor, has been selected as one of the 50 foremost artists in current musical activities in a biography published recently under the title "Artists in Music of Today." The new volume contains biographical sketches of the artists chosen and a full-page autographed reproduction of an original crayon portrait of each. The authors are Helen L. Kaufmann and Eva B. Hansl, and the illustrator is Louis Lupas who has made many drawings for the New York Times and Herald Tribune.

Do you remember dapper and youthful Edward Johnson when he appeared as a Maine Music Festival artist? He is a great favorite at the Metropolitan, not alone for his beauty of voice and impeccable artistry, but for his kind spirit and helpful nature. It is claimed that he has helped more than one young and trembling artist over the Metropolitan's threshold on debut night, with encouraging words and expressed interest.

Premier Benito Mussolini, pressing his reforms in Italy, has issued a decree to the effect that no vocal teacher will be allowed to operate who does not possess a diploma from a recognized academy. While one doubts, comments Leonard Liebling in Musical Courier, whether the measure could put a stop to all vocal quackery in Italy, at least it is a forceful step in the right direction, and parallels the previous regulations which Mussolini imposed upon dishonest agents and impresarios who preyed upon gullible young opera singers, especially Americans with enough money to buy appearances and favorable press notices in various Italian cities. There would still remain, however, the possibility of procuring diplomas from "academies" which might make a practice of selling such documents, and therefore the Duce should also order a searching inquiry into the qualifications of all Italian music schools and conservatories which have vocal departments.

If this is done, American singing aspirants who go to Italy to finish their studies could feel a sense of security which hitherto has been disturbingly absent. In many cases they have gained nothing, but they have lost their time and their dollars. Of late years the word, "maestro" has lost something of its original dignity. Evidently Mussolini means to maintain its prestige in the future.

Traveling Around America

A SEA-ELEVATOR

IT LOOKS like the last lap of a scenic railway, but it is really the track for the little electric "mules" which guide giant ocean liners through the massive locks that are on "elevator duty" down in the Panama Canal. The daylight trip through this greatest inland waterway in the world is included in the route of the fortnightly cruises between New York and California visiting the Central America. From comfortable deck chairs passengers can watch the scenic wonders of the 41-mile trip unfold and see how the various locks operate.

Not long after the ship leaves Colon, Atlantic terminal of the Canal, little electric engines, called "mules," running along each side of the channel guide the liner through the massive gates of Gatun Lock. In the chambers of this lock the ship is raised by three "steps," 50 feet to the level of Gatun Lake the largest artificial body of water in the world. On the passage across this lake, the trunks of half-submerged trees that were once a forest gleam like silver spars above the surface of the water and shores bright with gayly colored birds drift by. Soon the channel grows narrow and the hills of Culebra Cut appear above the deck. After passing through this Cut the ship enters the Pedro Miguel Locks and the Miraflores lock which lower her to the level of the Pacific. And as if sailing up hill and down again were not sufficiently up-setting to one's ideas of propriety, one finds that Balboa, Pacific terminus of the Canal, is farther East than Cristobal, the Atlantic terminus; and sunrises and sunsets seem to have changed places.

H. L. Richardson, poultry specialist, was in the county this week assisting County Agent Wentworth on pedigreed poultry breeding work.

William Antilla of Union has a very fine flock of pullets this year, laying well over 50 percent. He is planning to select two pens of birds to use for breeding next spring.

County Agent Wentworth has had a series of tax meetings this week in Orr's Corner and West Rockport. Next week meetings will be held thus: Whitefield, Tuesday at Union hall; Wednesday, West Alna and Sheepscot at Garrison Hill Grange hall; Thursday, Grange hall, Edgemoor and Saturday at Erskine hall, Alna. The forenoon, starting at 10, will be devoted to taxes and the afternoon to planning for the year.

Poultry accounts have been received from these poultrymen, to be used for county summary. Joe Damon, Waldoboro; James Calderwood, Waldoboro; Melvin Lawry and Albion Wotton, Friendship; C. Donald Perry, Emily Pushaw and H. W. Brown, Hope; Mrs. Charles Hendrickson, H. P. Hall, West Alna; Norris Waltz, Damariscotta; Fred Babb, Washington; Harry Wolcott, Camden; R. P. Conant, Rockland; Albert Elwell, Amber Childs, Orr's Corner; M. A. Brann, Whitefield and H. V. Starrett, Warren.

"Maine Towns" is a bulletin by Prof. O. C. Hormel of Bowdoin which gives some very important facts on the tax question. Parts of this bulletin will be discussed at planning meetings by Agent Wentworth. A summary of 46 Maine towns will be taken up at the tax meetings which start this week. Everyone should be interested in local tax questions, and should attend the meetings on taxes which are conducted in the county by the Extension Service and Farm Bureau.

The annual report just completed by County Agent Wentworth showed the following work done: Total meetings held, 125, attendance, 3851, calls made 770, number of persons calling on extension agent, 163; telephone calls, 157; individual letters written, 510; number circular letters, 31 and 7401 copies mailed; publications distributed 1679; persons advised on some agricultural subjects, 325.
